

Before Hashem Gave the Torah to the Jewish people he looked for the best place. Because the Torah is so important Hashem decided to give it high on a mountain. But which mountain should it be?

When the mountains found out that Hashem was ready to choose they began to argue amongst themselves about which mountain was the best, all the famous mountain like Har Tavor and Har Hacarmel.

“Hashem will surely want to give the Torah on me, I am the tallest mountain in the world! What better, more important place could there be?”

“You may be tall but I am surely the most beautiful mountain of all! look how I am covered with grass and trees and colorful flowers. Hashem will choose me!”

“Well you two can brag all you want but I just know Hashem is going to choose me. I am full of cool mountain streams flowing with clear water I know I am the best mountain for the Torah giving!

“You are not! Hashem wants a tall mountain!”

“No! Being tall is no big deal, I am prettier than you Hashem wants me!”

While all this boasting and arguing was going on...

There was only one mountain who remained quiet and sad, it was little Har Sinai, a mountain in the desert. Har Sinai thought to himself, why should I say anything?

I don't think I'm special enough for Hashem to choose me for the place to give the Torah I'm not very tall at all for a mountain, there are hundreds of mountains taller than I, I am not very beautiful either I am just a small mountain with no grass flowers trees or cool rivers flowing over me. So little Har Sinai kept quiet while all the other mountains were arguing and bragging.

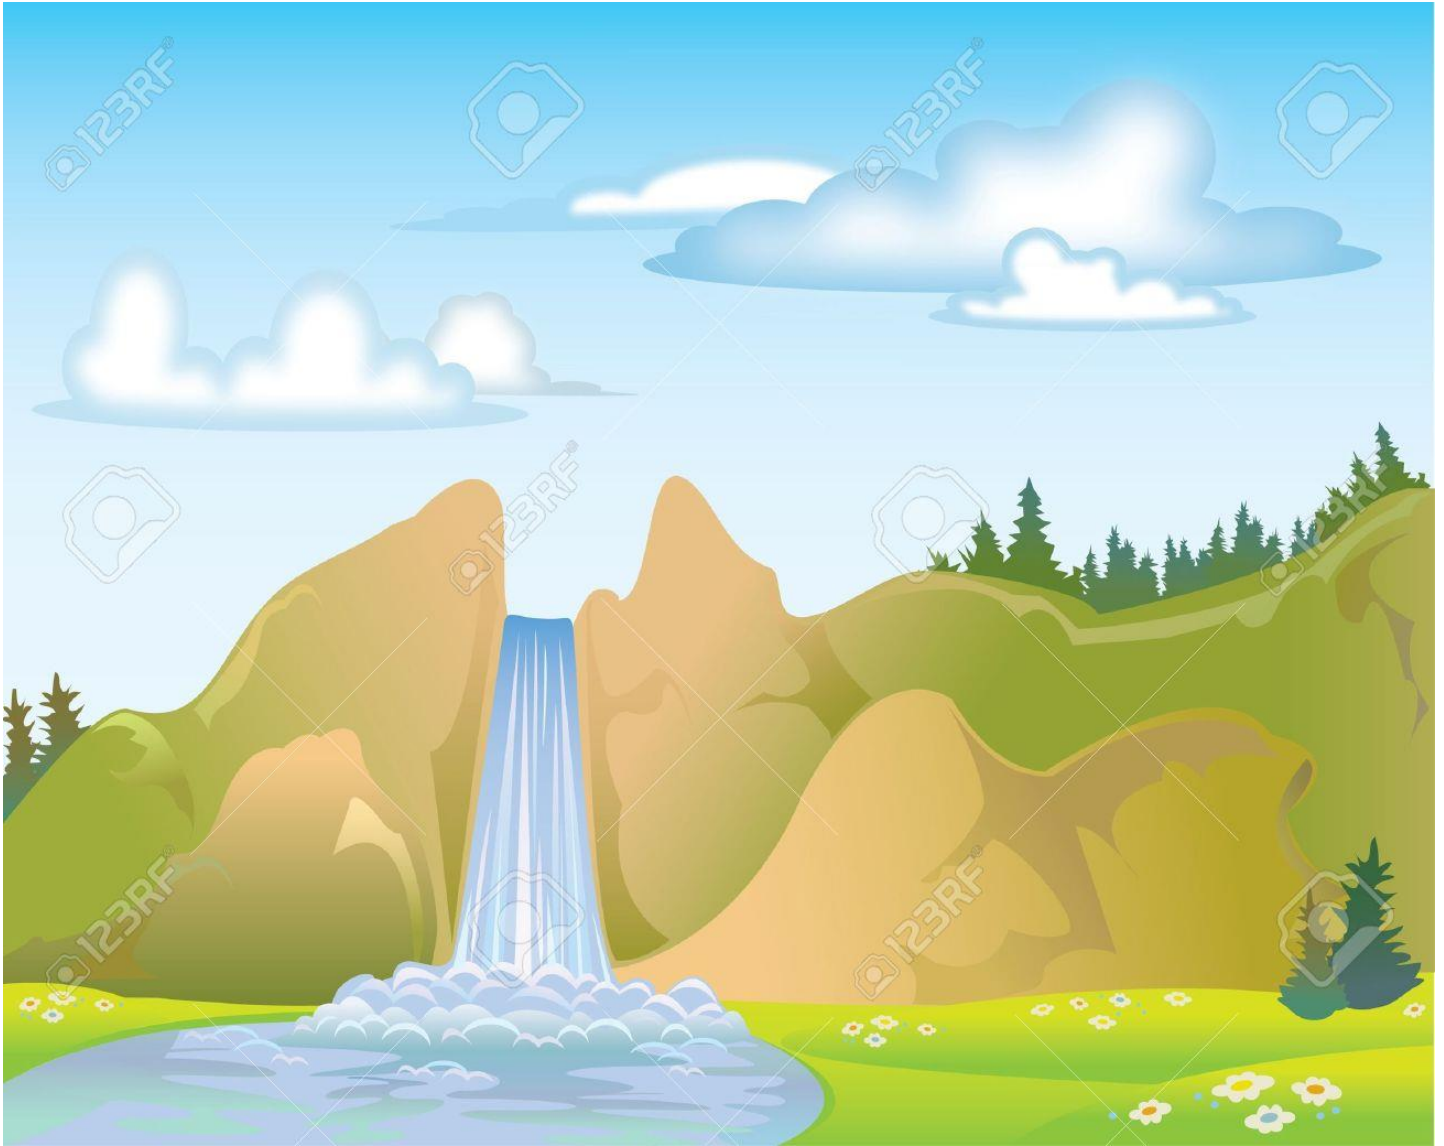

Finally, the time came for Hashem to choose the mountain on which he would give the Torah. All the mountains were surprised by Hashem's choice... he didn't choose the taller mountain...

he didn't choose the prettiest one...

he didn't either choose the one with the cool water streams...

Instead Hashem chose the most modest mountain of all... humble Har Sinai! because he didn't brag or boast about how good it was, Har Sinai was the best place to give the Torah Because Hashem would like us all to be the same way.
